Boston.

Oct. 13—Ar., steamer Quartette, 2200 fresh mackerel.

Mackerel News.

The receipts of mackerel from the mackerel fleet this week have been the smallest for some time, amounting to 830 bbls. They comprised small catches, and sold principally for $16.50 per bbl. being rimmed and of excellent quality. They count the same as the previous arrivals, about 175 or 200 to a barrel. No smaller sized fish have been caught of any account. Seining has been at a standstill all the week, owing to stormy weather. The fleet are mostly in the vicinity of Cape Cod, and have been harbored at Provincetown. About a dozen sail will go to Cape Shore. A few vessels have withdrawn from mackerel fishing this week for other kinds of fishing.

The corresponding week last year the fleet landed 928 bbls. mackerel, mostly caught off Cape Cod. They were mostly small and medium mackerel and sold at $17 per bbl.; a few large sold at $26. The fleet which were in the vicinity of Cape Cod comprised 60 sail.

The foreign receipts of salt mackerel this week have been the largest of any week this season. They were principally 3s and all from Nova Scotia. They are quoted, for medium $10 to $10.25 and for large $9.50. A few Prince Edward Island uncured have sold from $12 to $13 per bbl., according to quality. Fishing on the coast of Nova Scotia has been very light of late.

Advices from Ireland report an improvement in fishing in some localities, and only a few have been cured to date. At some important stations the latest advices state that none have been cured.

The only arrival at Boston this morning, was the steamer Quartette, having 2200 fresh mackerel, which she took off here last night. She reports nine of the other fleet in sight, and that the weather was very calm, and if she had not had steam power she would not have been able to reach port. Her fish sold for 10 cents each.

But few mackerel are in this morning, sch. D. A. Wilson having 37 barrels, which is the only trip of any consequence. A large number of the fleet which have been lying in port during the bad weather of the first of the week, sailed yesterday and to-day, and will now scour around in search of the elusive fish, for the next two weeks. A large number of the fleet are still off Cape Cod, and it is thought that a school is still off there.

The netters went out last night, but met with but little success, their catch averaging from two to 60 fish each. At Rockport the sloop Dorathea has 200 and the Frances M. Parker 150.

One afternoon this week the tug Howell went to the Isles of Shoals from Portsmouth and brought in 3000 handsome mackerel. The mackerel were shipped to New York and Boston. Had it not been for the severe storm, Portsmouth would have seen more mackerel within its limits than any time for years, for the nets at the Shoals were overcrowded with the fish.

Gloucester Vessels Badly Damaged off Nova Scotia Coast.

SCH. A. R. CRITTENDEN ASHORE.

Vessel Will Probably Be a Total Loss.

Unexpected results of the storm off the Nova Scotia coast are being reported, showing that it was more severe than was supposed.

George Steele & Co. received a telegram last night dated at Canso from Capt. Lewit Wharton of sch. A. R. Crittenden, owned by Mr. George Steele stating that the vessel went ashore in Whitehead Harbor, N. S., in the gale of Thursday night. She is full of water and the captain thinks her bottom is badly damaged.

This morning the firm received another dispatch from their agent at Halifax, stating that the vessel is full of water, the sails and stores having been stored. The crew have left her and he thinks that the vessel is a total loss.

The Crittenden was 85.63 tons gross and 56 tons net, and was built at Boothbay Me. She is insured by the Boston Marine Insurance Company.

Sch. Sera or Salsbury has arrived with the loss of everything on deck and reports the gale as unusually heavy, while sch. Mystery had one man washed overboard, and the A. E. Wyland also had one man lost and had her sails blown away in the gale of Sunday morning.

A despatch to D. B. Smith & Co. this morning from Port Hawkesbury, states that the sch. Emma E. Withere is at that port leaking.

Prince Edward Island was also swept, the storm doing immense damage mostly to roads and bridges and warehouses on wharves. Railroads and telegraph lines are crippled by washouts.

Eight vessels were piled up in the straits of Canso, they being fishermen and coasters.
